

The Knife of Live Lyrics

You're the mother of the fire that will devour me with your kiss, the glowing diamond of your mouth
On the burning dunes that sing of prophet hours
Time is sand that I surrender to your heart

I will remember those
Who dared to travel through
Many kill and boast about it
Others watch and talk about it
I'm the lonely silent witness to your knife of love

In the broody darkness of my final hour
I will climb the ladder to that rainy moon
As the sun will die, my mind will turn to sky blue and the stars will shine like specks of cinnamon

I will remember those
Who dared to travel through
Many kill and boast about it
Others watch and talk about it
I'm the lonely silent witness to the knife of love

We will remember those
Who dared to travel through
Many kill and boast about it
Others watch and talk about it
But we're all the silent witness to the knife of love
